MOSBY'S RANGERS TOPIC FOR FEBRUARY 22, 2015 MEETING

Eric Buckland

Our speaker for the February 22, 2015 quarterly meeting of the Madison County Historical Society will be Eric W. Buckland and the subject of his talk will be "Mosby's Rangers," one of the most famous units of the Civil War. Colonel John Singleton Mosby, commander of the 43rd Battalion Virginia Cavalry has had several books written about him and remains the "face" of the command and its only commander. It must be remembered however, that there would never have been a "Mosby" had it not been for the men (Mosby Men) who rode with him.

No military leader achieves greatness without having singularly outstanding and talented subordinates executing his orders and such was the case with Mosby. Colonel Mosby was extremely fortunate in the quality of the men who joined his command- men who after the war went on to become noted physicians, lawyers, ministers, lawmen and millionaires.

The stories about the men who rode with Mosby add a palpable human aspect to the Civil War and to the America that developed after it. Mr. Buckland will tell us these stories.

Mr. Buckland received a B.A. degree in English from the University of Kansas in 1977 and was commissioned as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army. He retired as a Lieutenant Colonel in 1999, having spent the majority of his military career in Special Operations with assignments in Special Forces, Psychological Operations and Civil Affairs. He is currently employed at the White House Office of National Drug Control Policy as an International Policy Analyst.

Mr. Buckland has written five books about some of the men who rode with the 43rd Battalion Virginia Cavalry. These include Mosby's Keydet Rangers which tells the stories of 58 men who matriculated at the Virginia Military Institute and rode with the 43rd. The four book Mosby Men series together tell the stories of another 120 Rangers.

Mr. Buckland and his wife Maureen have three sons and reside in Centerville, VA.

The meeting will be held in the County Administrative Offices auditorium at 2pm Sunday February 22nd. Everyone is invited to attend and refreshments will be provided in the Kemper Residence next door following the presentation.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS ELECTION

Members of the Society will elect four members to the Board of Directors at the general membership meeting scheduled for February 22, 2015. The Board consists of twelve members, each serving staggered three-year terms, so that four memberships expire each year. Article IV, Section 3. Of the Society's By-Laws states:

A Nominating Committee shall nominate members. Nominations may also be made from the floor. Any one so nominated must have agreed in writing to serve prior to the nomination. A Board member whose term has expired may be re-elected.

As noted above, in addition to nominations by the nominating committee, a member can run for a seat on the Board by submitting his or her desire in writing prior to the general membership meeting. These can be submitted to a current Board member or by mailing them to the Society at P.O. Box 467, Madison, VA.

The current members of the Board are as follows, with the year of their term expiration in parentheses: John Berry (2015), Penn Bowers (2015), Jean Busboso (2015), Judy Mahanes (2015), Maxwell Lacy (2016), Pat Lattin (2016), Carole Milks (2016), Roger Schreiner (2016), Marise Craig (2017), Rosa Page (2017), Sandy Stowe (2017), and Beppy White (2017.

GORDON LOHR'S RIFLES

Gordon Lohr exhibits one of his rifles

Our speaker for the November 16th quarterly meeting of the Madison County Historical Society was Mr. Gordon Lohr who gave us an excellent presentation on the history and evolution of the early "Virginia Rifle."

Mr. Lohr is a native of Madison County and has always had as his avocation the collecting and restoration of antiques. He began collecting 17th and 18th century antiques as a young man and acquired his first antique rifle at the age of ten. Over time he has acquired many of the various rifles about which he spoke and used them to illustrate the characteristics and manufacture of the early Virginia rifle, known as the "Kentucky" style.

The originals were German made and brought to the colonies by the German immigrants settling in Pennsylvania. Eventually they moved south into Virginia and on to Kentucky. Schools of gunsmiths all up and down the Valley of Virginia and into the Piedmont copied and improved on these rifles and they were often made in small shops, and all the parts were quite often not made in the same shop. They came to be known as Virginia or Kentucky rifles and were used for hunting and fighting in the colonies, on the frontier and in the states during and many years after the Revolution. Daniel Boone was always shown with his trusty rifle. Improvements through the years included machining to allow for common and replacement parts and improved mechanisms for loading and firing the weapons.

Mr. Lohr had many fine examples of these vintage rifles and the various accoutrements necessary for their use on the frontier and these were available for viewing following the presentation

For the 4th year in a row, the Madison County Historical Society presented an educational program about what life was like during Colonial times in our nation. The fourth grade students had been studying Colonial History and we tried to make things look real for them. We had lots of demonstrators and the teachers were very helpful in preparing the students for the program. Many thanks to the teachers, demonstrators, volunteers, and administrators for their assistance with the program. The students seemed to enjoy it very much as they asked lots of good questions and answered some of our questions as well. The weather was friendly to us this year and we could do some outside things as well. The program was held on Nov. 25, 2014 which was the Tuesday before Thanksgiving. Demonstrations and work stations included: Pauline Racer and Frances Lacy – Quilting; Candice Fountain. Connie Deatherage, and Shirley Ammon - Spinning and Weaving; Clyde Jenkins and Sons - Basket Steve Hoffman - Shingle Making; Weaving: Pat Lattin, Sandy Stowe, and Beppy White -Soap making and butter churning; Tommy Ford -Clothes Washing using water heated in iron kettle over an open fire; Max Lacy - cooking beans in an iron pot over an open fire, and the youngsters enjoyed eating the beans. The teachers and some of the demonstrators looked natural in their period clothing, which made the program look more authentic. It looks like we may have a tradition to uphold.

MADISON MOUNTAIN MEMORIAL

memorial honoring Madison families displaced by the government to form the Shenandoah National Park (SNP). Government records show that more than 120 Madison families lost lands during the 1920s and 30s for that purpose. Jim has a natural link to this time and place. His mother was 13 when her family had to leave their self-sufficient lifestyle that included the home, lands, orchards, gardens, schools, churches, and community that they and their ancestors had known for many years.

These personal ties with mountain families have led Jim to participate Madison as а representative to the Blue Ridge Mountain Heritage (BRMH) project. This project encompasses all eight counties whose land is part of today's SNP and has as one of its goals, 'park the commemoration of families'. Additional Madison representatives are Madison County Historical members Judy Mahanes and Kit Johnston. Mahanes also represents the Germanna Foundation in the BRMH project. The Germanna Foundation's interest is a welcomed addition since many Germanna names are among those listed on the mobile memorial.

Because of the memorial's mobile feature, Jim was able to show it at a recent BRMH board meeting held in Greene County, at the Literacy Council's holiday bazaars held in the Madison County fire hall, and at the Historical Society's quarterly meeting.

From the bazaar activity (pun intended), Jim and Judy's tie to the Literacy Council has grown because one of the Council's projects dovetails into the Madison Mountain Memorial project. The Literacy Council is planning a 'community read' where many interested Madison readers, young and old, will be reading Delia Ray's "Ghost Girl", a local story about a young women who lived in the mountains and attended the Hoover School during the 20s & 30s. As part of the book's distribution, the Literacy Council has agreed to include a copy of the Madison Mountain Memorial donation flyer in each book.

Similarly to the temporary mobile monument, the flyer lists family surnames of those displaced for formation of the park, contains a few relevant pictures, and seeks tax deductible donations for creating permanent tributes to these families. Checks for this purpose should be made payable to Madison County Historical Society and designated for the "Blue Ridge Project" and mailed to the attention of the treasurer at P.O. Box 467, Madison, VA 22727.

SOCIETY PROJECT LIST

- 1. Create a booklet about county schools with photos, focused prior to school centralization
- 2. Create a booklet about county churches with photos, focused prior to 1950

- 4. Update and publish Vee Dove's homes of Madison County
- 5. Create additional poster boards for hanging on the museum walls including civil war, businesses, homes, Indian origins, Shenandoah Park, county origins, schools, churches, public buildings. These hangings could be changed from time to time.
- 6. Digitizing newspaper clippings. Determine how to organize them and how to provide public access.
- 7. Digitize all genealogy information. Determine how best to provide public access. Could income be generated from selling portions of this information?
- 8. Improve publicity for society, perhaps need a publicity chairperson.
- 9. Scour county for additional homes or foundation sites of interest in the county.
- 10. Create booklets for each county community (Oak Park, Graves Mill, Brightwood, etc.)

- 30. It is places like Clore's, Yoder's, Hite's, etc. that you live with all the time but don't think about historically preserving.
- 31. An informational ad in the Madison Eagle Newspaper should be addressed to everyone in the County/Towns to contribute what they can whether they are Members of the Historical Society or not.
- 32. Documentation and a guide to African-American freeman's villages and African-American churches in Madison. Charles Lewis of the NAACP chapter in Culpeper, as we do not have a separate chapter in Madison, would most likely want to be involved and even possibly financially support such an effort.

- 33. Document the 100 year flood of 1995.
- 34. Document cannery in Criglersville.
- 35. How about recent newcomers contributing information as to why they moved to Madison and what businesses they are doing.
